The Call to Prayer and Praise

Leader: We come with faith in Christ, believing enough to:

People: - ask who would cast the first stone;

- reassure the woman at the well that her life could change;

- sit with sinners and eat with the rich;

- catch a man up a tree and not embarrass him

but accept him as a friend

- bless a marriage feast

- believe that right will triumph and that temples and systems can change.

Leader: That is love... and Christ calls us to a kind of love that is not jealous or boastful, arrogant, rude, or stubborn, irritable, resentful, or possessive. Love is patient and kind. Love rejoices in the right; it bears, believes, and hopes, and endures all things, for love is faithful and endless. Let us pray.

The Prayer of Invocation

Come, God, come with the frightened, come with the poor, come with the children, come with those who have always been your friends, along with those who have newly become your friends. Come and lead us where you are living. Show us what you want us to do. Amen.

Our Prayer of Confession

On the shores of our lives, O God, you beckon us to follow you. You invite us to leave our comfortable boats and journey in mission with you. Yet, we hear your call differently. Some of us are too busy to really listen to you. Some of us want a different assignment; we can't believe that you would ask this of us. Some of us think we are not worthy, have nothing to offer. Some of us are not ready to risk following you. We are not yet trusting. On the shores of our lives, you beckon and call; if we follow, we may not know success, but we will surely know great love and peace in your arms of love. Let us be courageous enough to say, "Hear I am, send me." Amen.
